At the Ventura Pekingese championship show Alan Murray of France offered this critique:

A lovely dog who fits the standard so well. No exaggeration anywhere. The correct head, broad and shallow, lovely eyes giving correct expression. Good nose placement and nostrils. Neat finish to mouth, broad well cushioned muzzle. Broad firm under jaw. Lovely deep broad chest, the right amount of bone to forelegs. Short neck set into well laid shoulders. Well broad ribcage, firm loin and short body, good hindquarters. Right amount of muscle and angulation. Beautifully groomed, correct texture to coat and length displayed the pear shape, enough cape not to impact this. Compact dog when on the move. Couldn't get past him, a quality dog in all respects. Dog C.C. and Best in Show.
